

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

PATRICK ENGLISH, on behalf of himself and all others similarly situated,

Plaintiff,

v.

RELATED MANAGEMENT COMPANY LP and
THE RELATED COMPANIES, L.P.,

Defendants.

Index No.: 21-cv-05475

COMPLAINT

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

Plaintiff Patrick English (“Plaintiff”), on behalf of himself and all other similarly situated persons, by and through his undersigned counsel, alleges upon personal knowledge as to himself and upon information and belief as to other matters (which is based on, among other things, his experiences at Defendants’ facility, review of Defendants’ records, conversations with Defendants’ employees and investigation of his counsel), as follows:

NATURE OF ACTION

1. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of himself and all other similarly situated current and former hourly paid and non-exempt employees (“Hourly Employees”) of Related Management Company LP (“Related”) and The Related Companies, L.P. (“Related Companies” and together with Related, collectively as, “Defendants”) arising out of Defendants’ illegal and improper wage practices that have deprived Hourly Employees of millions of dollars in wages and overtime compensation.

2. More specifically, and as particularized below, Defendants operate one of the largest private real estate development firms in the world and were principally responsible for, inter alia, the development of the Hudson Yards area of New York City.

3. In connection with the Hudson Yards development, Defendants engaged in illegal and improper wages practices, that include: (a) improperly penalizing Hourly Employees by configuring the time clocks in Defendants' facilities to round down and artificially reduce the amount of time Hourly Employees are credited with performing work, as well as compensating Hourly Employees based only upon their scheduled hours rather than the actual time they clocked in and out; and (b) automatically deducting time for meal breaks when employees are performing work during that time.

4. Furthermore, Defendants failed to provide Hourly Employees with appropriate pay rate acknowledgement forms and weekly wage statements.

5. These illegal practices and policies are uniform throughout Defendants' facilities and have been known to Defendants for years.

6. For these reasons, Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of themselves and other Hourly Employees to recover unpaid wages, overtime compensation, damages, penalties and reasonable attorneys' fees and costs under the Fair Labor Standards Act (the "FLSA") §§ 201, et seq., and under McKinney's Labor Law (the "NYLL"), §§ 190, et seq., 195(1), 195(3), §§ 650, et seq., and 12 NYCRR § 142-2.2.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

7. This Court has original jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 because the action involves a federal statute, the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

8. This Court has original jurisdiction over all claims in this action under the Class Action Fairness Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d). This is a proposed class action in which: (a) there are 100 or more members in the proposed class; (b) at least some members of the proposed class have a different citizenship from the Defendants; and (c) the claims of the proposed class members exceed $5,000,000.00 in the aggregate.

9. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1367 over the NYLL state law wage and hour claims because those claims derive from a common nucleus of operative fact.

10. Venue is proper in the Southern District of New York pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(1) and (2) because a substantial part of the events giving rise to the claims asserted herein occurred in this judicial district.

THE PARTIES

Plaintiff

11. Plaintiff, Patrick English, is currently a resident of Queens, New York and is a former employee of Defendants. Mr. English was employed on a full-time basis from April 17, 2017 to July 2019 as an Hourly Employee and paid an hourly rate of $50.92.

12. Specifically, Mr. English was employed by Defendants as Assistant Chief Engineer with a direct report to Christopher Lynch, Chief Engineer.

13. Throughout his employment, Mr. English was scheduled to work from 7:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m., 5 days per week. Mr. English typically worked Sunday-Thursday, but for approximately half of his employment he worked Monday-Friday.

14. As Assistant Chief Engineer, his job duties included, among other tasks, supervision of workers, issuance of work orders, coordinating and ensuring fire safety, and handling tenant complaints.

15. Despite his title, Mr. English could not exercise independent discretion, judgment or control over the daily and overall operations of the areas in which he worked. Mr. English could not hire or fire other Hourly Employees nor could he pick and choose a particular job assignment during any given day; rather, he was assigned particular job assignments by his supervisors. Moreover, Mr. English was at all relevant times classified as a non-exempt employee and entitled to overtime compensation. However, despite this lack of independent discretion, throughout the entirety of his employment with Defendants, Mr. English was not properly compensated for all hours worked.

16. Specifically, throughout Mr. English's employment, he was asked to and did perform essential work in between when he clocked in and the beginning of his scheduled shift, as well as in between the end of his scheduled shift and when he clocked out. By way of example, nearly every day throughout the course of his employment, Mr. English clocked in between 5 to 15 minutes prior to the start of his scheduled shift and immediately began performing job-related duties, but his time was rounded and he was compensated as if he began work at 7:00 a.m. Additionally, on those same occasions, Mr. English would typically clock out between 10 to 15 minutes after the end of his scheduled shift and would perform work during this post-shift interval. However, his time was rounded and he was compensated as if he clocked out at 7:00 p.m. On these days, Mr. English worked but was not compensated for at least 15-30 minutes because of Defendants' improper schedule-based time rounding procedures.

17. Often times, Mr. English would clock in or out significantly earlier or later than 10-15 minutes, including some days in which he would clock in/out 30-45 minutes before or after the start or end of his scheduled shift and perform work during these pre- and post-shift unpaid intervals.

18. While Mr. English was entitled to receive premium pay for work performed on weekends pursuant to the terms of the collective bargaining agreement between his union and Defendants, Mr. English and all other employees were not entitled to such premium pay during work performed Monday-Friday. More specifically, throughout Mr. English's employment, when he worked Monday-Friday, which was approximately 50% of the weeks he worked, he was entitled to his straight time wages for all hours worked up to 40 hours and entitled to overtime pay at one-and-one half times his regular rate for all hours worked in excess of 40 in such weeks. Mr. English, however, was not properly compensated for such time based on Defendants' improper pre- and post-shift schedule-based time rounding practices.

19. Mr. English was engaged in essential and integral work on Defendants' behalf during these and all other pre- and post-shift schedule-based time rounding periods in which he was clocked in but not compensated. Work performed during the pre- and post-shift schedule-based rounding periods include some or all the job duties referenced supra. This pre- and post-shift work was significant, integral and indispensable to the performance of job-related duties, was not a de minimis task or request and was predominantly for the Defendants' benefit. This pre/post shift work occurred 2-4 times per week for anywhere between 15-45 minutes per day or more.

20. Furthermore, Mr. English would routinely be interrupted during his uncompensated meals breaks and be required to perform work before the expiration of his full-30-minute meal break. Work performed during interrupted and uncompensated meal breaks includes those duties described supra.

21. As indicated supra, Mr. English worked a Monday-Friday schedule during approximately half of all weeks worked for Defendants. By way of example, during any one of the weeks in which Mr. English worked without premium pay from April 17, 2017 to July 2019, Mr. English clocked in/out approximately 10-15 minutes early or late each day that he worked and had his uncompensated meal break interrupted by approximately 5-10 minutes per day. During these weeks, Mr. English was paid his flat regularly scheduled rate of 40 hours with no premium pay or other additional consideration. However, during these weeks, Mr. English actually worked between 41.25 and 42.08 hours and was not paid any overtime for these additional 1.25 – 2.08 hours of overtime that week.

22. Additionally, Mr. English's supervisor knew he was performing work during periods of improper pre- and post-shift time rounding and during uncompensated meal breaks but did nothing to rectify the situation or compensate Mr. English for his time. Specifically, Mr. English's supervisor with knowledge of his uncompensated work included Christopher Lynch.

23. Thus, because of Defendants' improper time-rounding, meal break and overtime compensation policies and as described more fully below, Mr. English was deprived of wages as required by the FLSA and NYLL, including at least 1-3 hours of uncompensated straight and/or overtime per week.

24. Finally, Defendants never provided Mr. English with proper pay rate acknowledgment forms at the commencement of his employment and when he commenced employment as required under NYLL §195(1), nor was he provided with appropriate and accurate weekly wage statements as required by NYLL §195(3).

Defendants

25. Related Companies is a privately owned real estate firm based out of New York City with offices in Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Miami, San Francisco, Abu Dhabi, London, Sao Paulo, and Shanghai. Related Companies was founded and is owned by Stephen M. Ross, and employs over 3,000 Hourly Employees and has total assets of approximately $50 billion, including assets managed for others.

26. Related is, upon information and belief, a subsidiary and/or affiliated company of Related Companies, and was created as the Related Companies vehicle to be used in connection with the development of the Hudson Yards area in New York City.

27. The compensation policies of Defendants are centrally and collectively dictated, controlled, and ratified. Defendants had the power to control wage policies and practices through their oversight of day-to-day operating procedures, control over Hourly Employee work schedules, ability to determine Hourly Employees' rate of pay, and ability to control record-keeping practices. Thus, by virtue of their management and control over the wages and work of Hourly Employees, Defendants are the joint employers of Plaintiff and Hourly Employees within the meaning of the FLSA and NYLL.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

Background

28. Related Companies employs over 3,000 Hourly Employees. Upon information and belief, Related employs over 200 Hourly Employees.

29. Defendants hired Plaintiff and all other Hourly Employees and promised to pay hourly wages for their work. Hourly Employees are paid hourly wages based upon their job description and tenure that range between minimum wage and approximately $65.00 per hour and have a standard work week of 40 hours.

30. Hourly Employees are required to clock in when they arrive at work and clock out when they leave for the day. The time-keeping system and the procedures for using it are the same for all Hourly Employees.

Defendants' Time-Keeping System Is Configured to Improperly Penalize Hourly Employees When They Have Clocked In Before The Beginning Of Their Shift Or After The End Of Their Shift

31. Defendants have a policy and practice of unlawfully penalizing Hourly Employees who clock-in and perform work before their shifts are scheduled to begin and perform work after the end of their scheduled shift before they clock-out. Defendants will automatically penalize an Hourly Employee by rounding their clock-in time to the beginning or end of their scheduled shift start time, even though they are performing job-related duties between when they have actually clocked in/out and when they are scheduled to work. These job-related duties are performed at the request of Chiefs, Managers, Supervisors, Directors and other superiors who know that Hourly Employees will not be paid for this time and instruct Hourly Employees to begin or complete tasks within the unpaid schedule-based rounding window.

32. For example, if an Hourly Employee is scheduled to end his shift at 5:00 p.m., and he clocks out at 5:10 p.m., he is paid only until 5:00 p.m. even though he is performing work related duties during that uncompensated 10-minute interval. Similarly, if an Hourly Employee is scheduled to start his shift at 8:00 a.m. and he clocks in at 7:50 a.m., he is paid starting at 8:00 a.m. even though he is performing work-related duties during that uncompensated 10-minute interval. Consequently, if an Hourly Employee is scheduled to begin his shift at 8:00 a.m. and he clocks in at 8:04 a.m., he is not given the benefit of being compensated from 8:00 a.m. but rather he is paid from 8:04 a.m. forward. Similarly, if an Hourly Employee is scheduled to end his shift at 5:00 p.m. and he clocks out at 4:55 p.m., he is not given the benefit of being compensated until 5:00 p.m. but rather he is paid only up until he clocks out at 4:55 p.m.

33. Although they request and are aware of the work Hourly Employees perform during these penalty periods, Defendants knowingly configured their time keeping system to deny compensating Hourly Employees for some – if not all – of this unlawful schedule-based rounding time spent on Defendants’ behalf by systematically rounding down the Hourly Employees’ total time worked.

34. “Rounding” practices are permissible under the FLSA and NYLL if the “arrangement averages out so that the Hourly Employees are fully compensated for all the time they actually work.” 29 C.F.R. § 785.48(b). This practice is accepted provided that the time rounding is used in such a manner that will not, over a period of time, result in the failure to compensate Hourly Employees properly for all the time they have actually worked. Defendants are aware of permissible rounding practices under the FLSA and NYLL. However, despite their knowledge of permissible rounding practices and knowing that their time keeping software works only to the benefit of Defendants and to the detriment of the Hourly Employees, Defendants have never conducted an analysis to determine whether Defendants' time clock system averages out – which it does not.

35. As such, Defendants' schedule-based rounding practice unfairly favors Defendants versus the Hourly Employees subject to the schedule-based rounding policy. This rounding policy consistently and artificially reduces the total time Hourly Employees are credited with working at Defendants' facilities.

36. Accordingly, Plaintiff Patrick English, seeks certification of the following classes of Hourly Employees:

All Hourly Employees who are or were employed by Defendants within the three years (FLSA Collective Class) or six years (New York Class) preceding the filing of this action and were improperly penalized by Defendants' schedule-based time rounding system if they clocked in or out before and/or after the end of their scheduled shift, even though they performed work related duties during this uncompensated time window and who were: (a) not compensated for all work performed while clocked-in; and/or (b) were not compensated for all work performed during uncompensated and automatically deducted meal breaks; and/or (c) were not fully compensated for time worked over forty hours per week at overtime rates.

Defendants Exercise Control Over Related's Wage Policies and Practices

37. Defendants have the power to control Related's wage policies and practices through their oversight and management of day-to-day operating procedures, control over employee work schedules, negotiation of employee collective bargaining agreements, ability to determine employees' rate of pay and ability to control Related's record and time keeping practices. For example, Defendants have negotiated contracts with Related's vendors regarding purchases of, inter alia, facility-wide supplies and services.

38. By virtue of their positions, roles and conduct as described above, Related and Related Companies are "employers" under the FLSA and NYLL.

Defendants Failed To Provide Hourly Employees With Timely And Appropriate Wage Statements and Pay Rate Acknowledgement Forms As Required Under NYLL

39. Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff and all other Hourly Employees with wage statements at the time of payment of wages, containing: the dates of work covered by that payment of wages; names of the employee; name of employer; address and phone number of employer; rate or rates of pay and basis thereof; whether paid by the hour, shift, day, week, salary, piece, commission or other; gross wages; deductions; allowances, if any, claimed as part of the minimum wage; net wages; the regular hourly rate or rates of pay; the overtime rate or rates of pay; the number of regular hours worked; and the number of overtime hours worked, as required by NYLL §195(3).

40. Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff and all other Hourly Employees at the time of hiring and when they received a change in their hourly rate of pay, a statement in English and the Hourly Employees' primary language, containing: the rate or rates of pay and the basis thereof, whether paid by the hour, shift, day, week, salary, piece, commission or other; allowances, if any, claimed as part of the minimum wage; the regular pay day designated by the employer; the name of the employer; any "doing business as" names used by the employer; the physical address of the employers' main office or principal place of business, and a mailing address if different; and the telephone number of the employer, as required by NYLL §195(1).

FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT COLLECTIVE ACTION ALLEGATIONS

41. The preceding paragraphs are incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

42. Plaintiff brings this FLSA collective action on behalf of himself and all other persons similarly situated pursuant to 29 U.S.C. §§ 207 and 216(b), specifically, on behalf of the aforementioned FLSA Collective Class.

43. Excluded from the FLSA Collective Class are Defendants, their legal representatives, officers, directors, assigns, and successors, or any individual who has or had a controlling interest in Related Companies and Related. Also excluded are persons and entities who submit timely and otherwise proper requests for exclusion from the FLSA Collective Class.

44. Plaintiff is unable to state the exact number of Hourly Employees within the Collective Class without discovery of Defendants' books and records, but estimates that the FLSA Collective Class exceeds 200 individuals.

45. Defendants improperly benefited from Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective Class members' uncompensated work during schedule-based rounding periods and uncompensated meal breaks.

46. Defendants' unlawful conduct has been widespread, repeated and consistent. Moreover, Defendants' conduct was willful and in bad faith and has caused significant damages to Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective Class.

47. Defendants are liable under the FLSA for failing to properly compensate Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective Class, and, as such, notice should be sent to the FLSA Collective Class. There are numerous similarly situated, current and former Hourly Employees who have been denied wages in violation of the FLSA who would benefit from the issuance of a Court-supervised notice of the present lawsuit and the opportunity to join in the action. Those similarly situated Hourly Employees are known to Defendants and are readily identifiable through Defendants' records.

NEW YORK CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

48. The preceding paragraphs are incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein.

49. Plaintiff brings this action on his own behalf and as a class action pursuant to Article 9 of New York Civil Practice Law and Rules on behalf of the aforementioned New York Class.

50. Excluded from the New York Class are Defendants, their legal representatives, officers, directors, assigns, and successors, or any individual who has or had a controlling interest in Related Companies and Related. Also excluded are persons and entities who submit timely and otherwise proper requests for exclusion from the New York Class.

51. Defendants operate one of the largest privately owned real estate firms in the world and were the primary developer of the Hudson Yards development in New York City, employing over 200 Hourly Employees, and they systematically fail and refuse to pay their Hourly Employees for all compensable hours worked. The members of the New York Class are so numerous that joinder of all members in one proceeding is impracticable.

52. Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of other New York Class members because Plaintiff is a non-exempt hourly-wage Hourly Employee who has not been compensated for work performed at the employer's request once he had clocked-in before his scheduled shift and before he clocked-out after his scheduled shift or for work performed during his uncompensated meal breaks.

53. Plaintiff and other New York Class members have sustained similar types of damages as a result of Defendants' failure to comply with the NYLL. Plaintiff and other New York Class members have been injured in that they have been uncompensated or under-compensated due to Defendants' common policies, practices, and patterns of conduct.

54. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the New York Class. Plaintiff has retained counsel competent and experienced in complex class action and wage and hour litigation. There is no conflict between Plaintiff and the New York Class.

55. Common questions of law and fact exist as to the New York Class that predominate over any questions solely affecting them individually and include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a. Whether Defendants failed and/or refused to pay Plaintiff and the New York Class for all of the compensable time that they worked for Defendants while clocked-in;
- b. Whether Defendants failed and/or refused to pay Plaintiff appropriate overtime rates for shifts in which they worked during uncompensated and automatically deducted meal breaks;
- c. Whether Defendants failed to keep true and accurate time records for all hours worked by their Hourly Employees as required by New York Labor Law §§ 190 et seq. and 650 et seq.;
- d. Whether Defendants failed to provide appropriate and accurate pay rate acknowledgement forms and weekly wage statements as required by New York Labor Law §§ 195(1) and 195(3);
- e. Whether Defendants correctly compensated members of the New York Class for hours worked in excess of forty per workweek;
- f. Whether Defendants correctly compensated members of the New York Class for all uncompensated straight time hours worked under forty per workweek;
- g. Whether Defendants failed to comply with the posting and notice requirements of the NYLL;

- h. Whether Defendants engaged in a pattern and/or practice in New York of forcing, coercing, and/or permitting Plaintiff and New York Class members to perform work for Defendants' benefit which was not compensated;
- i. Whether Defendants' policy of failing to pay workers was instituted willfully or with reckless disregard of the law; and
- j. The nature and extent of class-wide injury and the measure of damages for those injuries.

56. Class action treatment is superior to any alternatives for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy alleged herein. Such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the duplication of effort and expense that numerous individual actions would entail. Individual class members' damages are inadequate to justify the costs of prosecuting their claims in any manner other than a class action. No difficulties are likely to be encountered in the management of this class action that would preclude its maintenance as a class action, and no superior alternative exists for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. Members of the New York Class are readily identifiable from Defendants' own records.

57. Prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the New York Class would create the risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications with respect to individual members of the New York Class that would establish incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

58. Without a class action, Defendants will retain the benefit of their wrongdoing and will continue a course of action that will result in further damages to Plaintiff and the New York Class.

59. Plaintiff intends to send notice to all members of the New York Class to the extent required by New York C.P.L.R. § 904.
